Miller Pipeline Acquires Dover Contracting, Inc.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. – Miller Pipeline Corporation, one of the nation’s leading natural gas distribution and utility contractors and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Vectren Corporation acquired Ohio based Dover Contracting, Inc. The transaction officially closed Friday October 31, 2008.

Miller Pipeline acquired Dover Contracting as part of the company’s strategy to strengthen its position as a leader in the underground construction industry.

“The transmission pipeline construction market has become a significant part of our business over the past few years,” said Doug Banning, CEO of Miller Pipeline. “We have been successful in expanding our customer base in 2008 and with this acquisition we will be able to expand our service expertise and geographic market.”

Founded in 1960 by Russell Hawk, Dover Contracting is an underground pipeline construction company working in the transmission pipeline construction market segment. The company’s workforce is composed of approximately 50-60 employees during construction season. Their customers include major gas utilities in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Perpetuating Dover’s legacy, Hawk will remain at the company to help foster key relationships and execute business strategies.

“After 48 years, I felt it was time for someone else to run the business,” said Hawk. “I’m excited and pleased to be working with Miller Pipeline and look forward to helping them reach their goals.”

“This opportunity creates a strategic advantage for both Miller and Dover Contracting,” said Banning. “Together, with our commitment to safety, quality, integrity in management and superior customer service, we will be better positioned to deliver quality solutions to our customers.”
